Examples of Value Our Team Provides

Per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS), often referred to as "forever chemicals," have been the subject of increased scrutiny and litigation for over two decades. NJL has a long-standing commitment to providing exceptional legal representation in complex product liability and toxic tort cases. With a deep bench of experienced attorneys and a growing focus on emerging contaminants, we are uniquely positioned to help clients navigate the evolving landscape of PFAS regulation and litigation. Serving Manufacturers and Fortune 500 Companies Across Industries We represent a diverse range of clients, including leading manufacturers and Fortune 500 companies across various industries. Our clients rely on our expertise to address the legal challenges posed by the use of PFAS in products, from product design and development to post-market monitoring and risk management.

- Manufacturers
- Chemical Companies
- Consumer Product Companies

Comprehensive PFAS Product Stewardship Program Our PFAS product stewardship program is designed to help clients proactively manage PFAS-related risks throughout the entire product lifecycle. We provide tailored solutions to:

- Advise on Regulatory Compliance: Stay ahead of evolving PFAS regulations and industry standards to ensure compliance and minimize liability.
- Investigate and Report on PFAS: Conduct thorough investigations to identify and assess PFAS in products and supply chains.
- Maximize Insurance and Contract Protections: Review and strengthen insurance policies and contracts to safeguard against potential claims and losses.
- Manage Litigation Risk: Develop effective litigation strategies to defend against PFAS-related lawsuits and minimize damages.

Strategic Counsel Our team helps clients understand the complex legal and regulatory landscape surrounding PFAS, including:

- Developing comprehensive PFAS action plans
- Reviewing and drafting contracts and insurance policies
- Providing strategic communications and public relations advice
- Aligning marketing and communications with PFAS regulatory requirements
- Monitoring and reporting on emerging PFAS regulations and case law

By leveraging our deep industry knowledge and extensive experience, we provide tailored solutions to help our clients mitigate risk, protect their brands, and ensure long-term sustainability.
